MR. ROBERT H. WUJCIAK

As we pass through the halls of E.S.H.S., we see that during our tim here, the school has gone through many changes. The one thing that ha remained constant throughout our four years, has been our Principal, M. Robert H. Wujciak.

Mr. Wujciak always wants his students exposed to new and excitin experiences. He has originated such programs as East Side Opportunit Program (E.S.O.P.) which allows students an academic experience of demanding courses during their years here. Another program, Peer Leadership, has been established at East Side. This enables the incoming freshmen to interact with upper classmen for support and advice.

As we close the "books" at East Side, we open our hearts to the memories that will linger on.

The graduating class of 1993 would like to thank Mr. Wujciak for hidedication and for making the memories possible.

such a goal one must first have the skills and the driving force. At East Side students have forever looked to the Faculty and Administration for these two powerful tools. The teachers and the administration at East Side have always been committed to excellence and to helping our students in their time of need. Thanks to our magnificent staff and administrators, the students of East Side have never been left astray . . .

East Side is and always will be, a great and distinguished school, just as long as it maintains a faculty and administration as befits its magnificant history.

EAST SIDE

As we entered into the doors of East Side we were looking for a friendly face, and we were welcomed by generous counselors, who helped us with our schedules and our problems.

Throughout our four years of high school our guidance counselors have put extreme effort in our future goals, and our education.

Now we are seniors and headed out into the world. We the senior class of 1993 would like to take this opportunity to give our sincere thanks to the Guidance Counselors for their sincere devotion and commitment.

MR. LEONARD CHILL

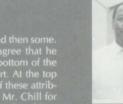

LEONARD CHILL'S remarkable career in education spans three decades and then some. Most people who know "Lenny" as he is affectionately known, would agree that he demonstrates a genuine desire to connect with other people. At the very bottom of the list of motivations for connecting is his selfless donations of time and effort. At the top of the list, is an earnest desire to make the world a better place. Because of these attributes, it is with a great sense of pleasure and deep pride that we recognize Mr. Chill for his large-scale good deeds and for his mastery as an educator spanning the last thirty-five years.

During his lengthy career, Mr. Chill has not only mastered his craft, but has gained many of the qualities that we feel make for a successful teacher — a strong sense of professionalism, extreme knowledge of his subject matter, a sense of humor and lastly, a strong concern for each and every student's academic and social needs.

concern for each and every student's academic and social needs.

As a youth, having grown up in Newark, and graduating in 1954 from Weequahic High School, Mr. Chill can easily relate to the many challenges facing your people in today's society. In a recent interview, Chill stated, "Today's youth face problems we kids never dreamed of. I'm glad I'm here (East Side) to set the record straight for young people who come to me with problems when they themselves don't have the so utions."

Mr. Chill graduated in 1958 from Montclair State College and holds a Masters Degree in History from New York University. In addition to his teaching assignment, here at East Side, he is a professor at Middlesex County College. He lives in Livingston with his devoted wife, Barbara, and their daughters, Debbie and Wendy.

Junior Prom

I t was a lovely Thursday evening on May 28, 1992 when we anxiously waited for the clock to turn seven. Stroke by stroke, every boy & girl dressed themselves for an evening of elegance, The Junior Prom! The big event took place at the Radisson Hotel. As the limousines arrived at their destination, the guests were escorted to the beautiful balcony overlooking the pool where we were served beverages. The lights were dimmed and the atmosphere was extremely romantic.

Everyone looked their very best for this unforgettable night! Before long eight o'clock rolled around bringing us to the ballroom where we were served dinner. People were posing for memorable portraits with each another, bringing this to a moment we had all been waiting for, the crowning of the King and Queen of the Prom. It was not an easy choice but someone had to win. With all the excitement the names were finally announced. The King and Queen were Marco Cerqueiro and Carla Tavares. They made their way on the dance floor where they danced the traditional Prom Theme being "Here and Now" by Luther Vandross! Every couple immediately followed and danced the night away until the stroke of 12:00, bringing this memorable night to an end.

PASSING OF

The Class Of '93 takes on the responsibility of representing East Side High School

As we were Juniors and walked down the aisle to receive the torch we knew we were taking on a great responsibility. The graduating Class Of 1992 was leaving it up to us to carry on the tradition of East Side High School. As the Class of '92 passed on the flaming torch to the future Class of '93 we knew we were one step closer to the real world. As the flames burned high they symbolized our past achievements and future goals. The Class of '92 inspired us to feel capable of achieving those goals. We the Class of '93 only hope we can pass on the same enthusiasm of the future as the Class Of '92.

Student Council

This year's Student Council is looking to be the best one yet. Along with their new advisor, Mrs. Sage-Blanks, they currently have many activities underway.

One of these activities included a coalition with the Environmental Club. Together they have collected canned goods and clothing for the needy. They have also collected toys for tots.

President Frank Adao and V.P. Mercedes Montaner have hopes to inspire AIDS awareness at East Side. They plan to achieve their goal by creating a special fund in our school. They also have prospective plans for a mural which would be a great symbol at East Side's great dedication to this worthy cause.

We would like to thank the Student Council for their tremendous efforts.

MOLLY JAY GLOVER

Molly Jay Glover has been a teacher at East Side High School for 31 years and during her legendary teaching career she has been responsible for some of the school's most memorable programs.

Choir "J" which Mrs. Glover founded in 1963 remains to this day one of the only performing groups among Newark students. This prestigious group has performed for each of the city's last three mayors. The choir lists among its itinerary performances before various civic organizations, the Newark Museum and both Kean and Montclair State College.

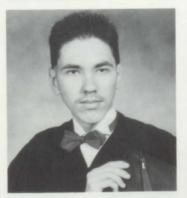

For twenty-eight years this noted thespian has staged an aray of musicals for audiences at East Side. her magnificent repertoire includes productions such as "Pippin", "West Side Sotry", "Gypsy", "Funny Girl", "South Pacific" and various Broadway and off-Broadway retrospectives - a record unequaled throughout the city.

Her career also includes stints as coordinator and director for the New Jersey State Opera Festival. In 1949 she's credited with founding and directing various choral groups throughout the state many of which are still performing.

Mrs. Glover is the originator and premier advisor of the Peer Leadership Program in the school and in 1986 she was again appointed to lead, this time as Senior Class Advisor. Her responsibilities included advisor to the National Honor Society and for eight years was coordinator of the East Side cheerleaders and twirlers. She has also coordinated the East Side Color

"Being valedictorian boosts my spirits and makes me realize that all the hours of studying really did pay off!"

SANDRA BELO

Valedictorian of the Class of 1993 always with a ready smile and a quick laugh, is a high achiever whose strong sense of commitment to her family and her local community expresses a meaningful, nonosense purpose. "Each of us in the Class of '93 are all on different paths, with different lessons to learn. No matter how people may appear or react to us, we have a challenge to send them love and light and to wish them well. When we are able to do this, we not only help them to grow, but we plant good seeds for ourselves as well," says Belo.

Since entering East Side, her consistent academic excellence in math earned for Belo, the respect of her math teachers and, in 1991, she joined the Tessalations Club, a club that investigates the scope and mystery of mathematics. She has successfully competed in the Math Olympics every year beginning with sophomore year. During March of 1992, competing against scholars from Science High School, she easily won high honors in calculus competition.

By her Junior year, her grade point average (G.P.A.) had risen high enough and she was invited to join the National Honor Society, an outstanding scholarly organization which she currently serves as Treasurer. Belo holds various Certificates of Merit in trigonometry, health and physical education.

Good things come to those who wait. It's an old saying, but it's never been truer for Sandra Belo. During the fall of 1991, Sandra's physics teacher, Mr. Barrett King, took notice of Sandra's exceptional abilities in the physical sciences. Without realizing what was going on around her, Sandra had carved out a reputation for herself as a noted young physicist. Given his expressed interest in physics, Mr. King could not help but notice Sandra's development and sought fit to bring her accomplishments to the attention of the optical giants, Bausch and Lomb. Counterbalancing this interest, Bausch and Lomb bestowed on Belo their prestigious Honorary Science Award for

A native Newarker, Belo is part of a family portrait with it's framework in Portugal. As a child listening to stories of their family's achievements, Belo carries this sense of pride and dignity with her no matter where she goes.

Ideally prepared, Belo plans to attend Rutgers, The State University Of New Jersey with a vision in mind of fulfilling her goal of becoming a Certified Public Accountant. With a G.P.A. of 4.136, Belo is committed to a college education to help create a better quality of life that benefits all Americans — instead of diminishing it

The East Side Opportunity Program (ESOP) is a program in which a selected group of students are taught at an advanced level. Being in ESOP means having responsibility and doing a lot of hard work. The students are a challenged group of individuals who were told, from the beginning, that high school was not going to be all fun and games, and it hasn't been. The students were given teachers who taught at an advanced pace and, at first, took most of the students by surprise.

Being a part of this demanding group exposes the students to both college level discussions and college level course work. The students have taken high school courses one year earlier than expected and are able to take college level calculus and college level English.

Although being in ESOP means working a little harder, the students in the program have fun. Being together in every class, since freshman year has made them closer. They've made lasting friendships which they will always cherish. They have become the best of friends, knowing they can always count on each other, whether it was dealing with personal matters or academic frustration. They've become so close that they have a hard time envisioning themselves in college without each other.

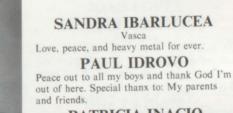

Everyone will meet a diverse range of people, in college, and probably quickly become friends with them but the friends we have in high school will always be dear to us.

Tessellations Club

At the beginning of each school year, old as well as new members pile into room 360 for their first of many meetings for the TESSELLATIONS CLUB. As soon as we walk in we are introduced to our two advisors; A. DiPiazza and C. Polakowski.

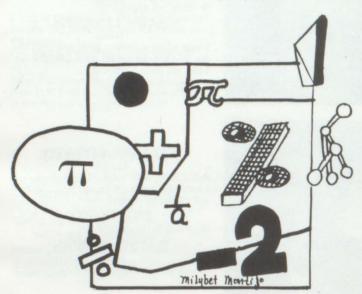

During the year, we try to cover a variety of subjects that most people would never cover in class, we sometimes have guest speakers. The guest speakers help members interested in mathematics get better acquainted with their interests and/or possible career opportunities within their fields of interests.

Every year at Christmas time we busy ourselves to make the lobby beautiful and full of Christmas cheer. Ornaments are usually our thing! The special thing about our ornaments is that they are based on mathematics, they don't follow the patterns of regular Christmas ornaments. We use complex figures in making our ornaments.

We also have fundraisers throughout the year: Poster sales, fall and Christmas accessories as well as other holidays, etc. The money raised from these fundraisers will be used for our trip. Traditionally the TESSELLATIONS CLUB has had it's trip during EASTER RECESS. This year we are keeping the tradition alive. Everyone is anticipating that this trip will be great, just like the ones in the past have been.

We also have lots of contests, these competitions are statewide and very educational as well as fun.

We end our year by having our annual get together at the library. We look at pictures, give out awards, and discuss all the great things we did during the year.

Mr. Bradley has lived his entire life in Newark, he is married to the former Mary Cidern and the father of three children.

He attended Wilson Avenue Grammar School and is a graduate of East Side High School, Class of June 1953. Mr. Bradley also attended Technical Schools for advanced technical courses. He attended Rutgers for a year and LaSalle Extension University for law courses. Mr. Bradley has taken various courses and seminars to keep abreast of new methods in government as well as the private sector.

Mr. Bradley is an Air Force veteran serving with the 7108th Tac Hospital Unit at Chaumount AFB France. While overseas he served as AIC of Dental Services and Assistant AIC of all Hospital Services. While on active duty he received letters of commendation and the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

As a businessman, Mr. Bradley was Vice President of Bradley Boiler Works. In 1965, he accepted an appointment to the Newark Planning Board and served on the Board until 1977, and was its chairman for 8 years. In 1973, Mr. Bradley left the private sector to accept an appointment as Inter-Governmental Liaison for the Newark Municipal Council in which he still serves. In this position he has the responsibility of policy analysis and formulation, review, analysis and recommends appropriate action concerning contracts. Mr. Bradley represents the Council on all levels of government; testifies at appropriate committee and public hearings as well as full range of research and writing.

Mr. Bradley is a current member of the N.J. State League of Municipalities Legislative Committee as well as its Airport Study and Shore Protection Sub-Committees. He also is a member of the National League of Cities Staff Conferences at which he has instructed and facilitated work shops. Throughout his career, Mr. Bradley, having worked on various government, civic, and community committees, has received many honors and awards.

Because of Mr. Bradley's outstanding and continual success and achievement, we the Class of 1993 honor Mr. Bradley as East Side's Alumnus of Superior Merit . . .

A CHAPTER CLOSED ...

We the graduating class of 1993, dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. Marion Matarazzo in recognition of her unstinting devotion to her students and for her consistent commitment to educational excellence.

Her career has spanned 42 years, forty of these years in the Newark School System. She is a graduate of the Newark School System. After graduating from East Side High, she attended Montclair State College where she received her M.A. and B.A. in English.

The major portion of her years have been spent at East Side High School. Mrs. Matarazzo has not only been a teacher, she has been a friend to everyone. More importantly, her innovative style of teaching has brought joy and excitement to her classroom. She as a result has touched the hearts of her students. As a true educator, realizing the importance of extra-curricular activities, she has been through the years, advisor to East Side's National Honor Society, Coordinator of the Future Teachers, Advisor to the Senior Class, Advisor to the Cheerleaders, and PTA Liaison.

Last but not least Mrs. Matarazzo has won numerous awards for her outstanding teaching ability. In 1988, she was awarded the Princeton University Award for Distinguished Teaching in the State of New Jersey; the Governors Award for Excellence in Teaching in 1989. In 1990, she was Newark's Teacher of the Year, Essex County Teacher of the Year and again in 1990, she was awarded the A+ For Kids Teacher Award for Innovative Teaching.

We have been lucky to have known her as a teacher, par excellence, and as a friend; for she has truly made a difference in all our lives. We love you and bid you a fond farewell! . . .

Galo Vaca, Vilma DaSilva, Milybet Montijo, Alnisa Graham, Carla Tavares, Analia Rodrigues, Luis Negron.

It takes a great deal of patience and dedication to deal with the hardships of organizing activities and a graduation for a class with almost five hundred graduates. With this in mind the graduating Class of 1993 is privileged to have such a great advisor. Mr. Malanga has not only been an advisor, but a friend to us. He stood by our side through the good times and bad and always listened to our side, as well as, our opinions. He made sure that everyone of us would have a little something to remember our Senior year by. We the Class of '93 would like to say Thank you to Mr. Malanga and congratulate him on a job well done. We'll never forget our Senior year at East Side High School.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

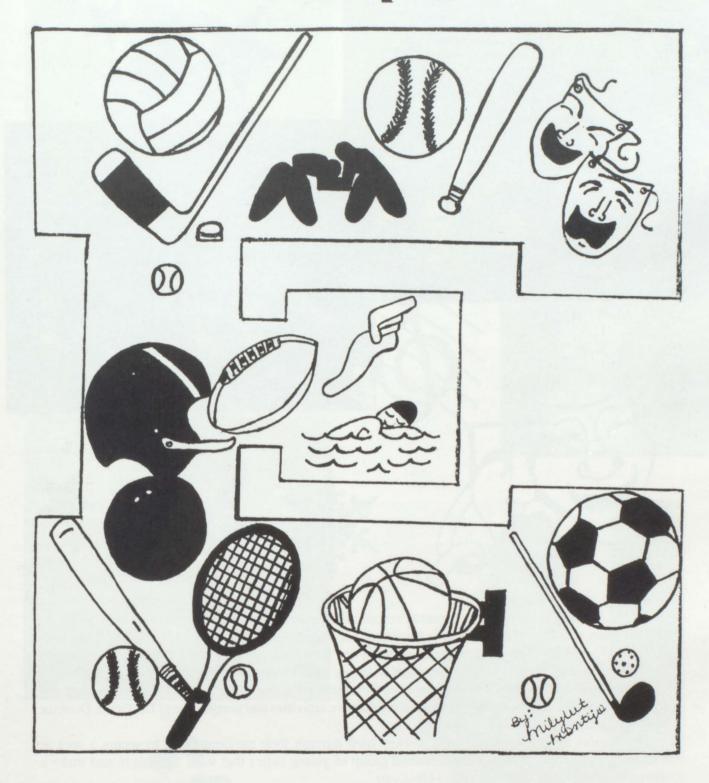

The Athletic Director's prime function is to act as supervisor of all athletic programs. All coaches are answerable to him concerning the operations of their individual activities. Among some of his duties are scheduling, ordering buses, filling team equipment orders and monitoring individual events. Mr. Steve Leonardis has handled the position admirably for the four years he has held the position. Our hats are off to you Mr. Leonardis for a Job Well Done!

SPORTS

S ports have been a tradition at East Side High School for many years. Some of the teams have accomplished more with time and others have simply remained competitive. We are currently in the Watchung Conference and are challenged by some of the best teams New Jersey has to offer. Apparently it is not an easy task. However, every year our teams try harder to achieve victory. This would not be possible if the coaches and players did not put forth the effort that they do. As long as East Siders have the dedication and the ability to try, East Side will always have something to be proud of.

The 1992-93 East Side H.S. Winterguard Presents: En Vogue "Giving Him Something He Can Feel" This years members will surely give the crowd and Eastside something "EVERYBODY" can feel. The 1992-93 season promises to be an exciting one for both the Senior and Junior Guard. This year the Senior Guard has been fortunate enough to secure the Instructional Talent of Jim Vitigliano from the famed Massachusetts based Suburbanettes Colorguard. "Bring home the gold ladies and show the rest of the country that Newark does have many positive activities and people," says Dr. Grant, Director of the Winterguard.

The Seniors are working and have worked hard through their previous years to secure a spot in Winterguard history. They are a determined group of young ladies that want to achieve and make a difference. Good Luck and may God bless you.

Cheerleading is a sport that requires a strong, dedicated and unique personality. Cheerleading's main purpose is to provide a foundation of support to the team in season by drawing out the school spirit of the spectator. Therefore, how can you draw out school spirit in others if you don't possess it yourself? Scholastic teams perform at their peak when they know their classmates are behind them. Who best to answer that call but a East Side Cheerleader!

The East Side Red Raider Football team fought its way through another hard hitting schedule, playing against some of the toughest opponents in the state. Although we had a disappointing win/loss record, no one could be disappointed with the character development and emotional growth the coaching staff saw in the young men played for the entire season. This team continued to mature despite the overwhelming strength of our onfield rivals. Our younger players received encouragement from many of the older teammates. Senior efforts were provided by our four years players, including Alex Abud, Anthony Gleave, Robert Lewis, and most notably the 1991 team captains Jorge Facao, Kevin Jardim, Anthony Lima, and Charles McCrea.

Many "MAGIC" moments passed and as the 1992-93 basketball season came to an end, we bid farewell to seven seniors. Kysien Dixon, 6' point guard, Shakil Miller, 6'6" forward, Earl Cox, 6'7" center, Miguel Soto, 5'9" point guard, Taron Price, 5'10" forward, Keith Rodriguez 6'1" point guard, and Tony Roman, 6'2" forward all contributed as a team and lead the Red Raiders to a victorious season. The team under the coaching staff of Ray Malanga (head coach), Zeke Tosun (asst. coach), Mike White (asst. coach), and Robert Goodall (asst. coach) had their work cut out for them. None of these players were newcomers to the team and by giving unselfishly of themselves and playing the game as a team, the seniors will look back on their last year as Red Raiders with a tremendous amount of pride. JOB WELL DONE!

ark. Errica Gardner led Arts (1-5) with 11 points.

The Girls Basketball Team is a skilled group capable of handling pressure. When they play together, they play smart.

This group is endowed with great players such as Amira Shabazz, Christina Arteaga, Mecca Ford, Tamikah Battle, Pat Tome, and Maria Marin.

The 1993 Varsity Basetball Team has some large shoes to fill and an eager group of players willing to do just that. Last year's club left some large footprints behind — a Greater Newark Tournament Championship (the first for the city of Newark in 46 yrs.), a 22-6 record, a second place Watchung Conference finish and a state ranking of 18 in the final Star-Ledger Baseball Poll. This year's enthusiastic crop will attempt to build upon that success and carry the winning banner for another year.

The Girls' 1992 soccer season was very rewarding. Our girls played hard and were competitive. Although its a young program, they won seven games against some tough teams.

The team will be losing many good seniors like Sonia Inacio, Andrea Monchacho, Sandra Ibarlucea, Lessonaya Ruiz, Anita Fuentes, Viviane Lobato, and Erika Pereira, however, other good young players remain to maintain a competitive soccer program. And for this reason the coach looks forward to next season . . .

Though not champs, this year's soccer team was equipped with extraordinary players. These guys played their hearts out and enjoyed it.

Great players like this year's seniors: Rui Dias, Tony Rendeiro, Ceasar Vaz, Joaquim Barra, Pedro Santos, Victor Soto, Jorge Fernandes, and Paul Soares are hard to come by. Rui Dias was awarded Gateway Player of the Game after E.S.'s 1-0 victory over Bayonne, which was televised on a local cable station. He also went on to end the season with 12 goals to his name. Tony Rendeiro ended the season with 13 goals as his contribution. All these seniors leave an outstanding record behind . . .

East Side closes in for a victory . . .

Carlos flies to the finish line.

The clock is ticking away. Every second counts for overall performance and place. Every runner gives his best. The cross country and track and field teams exhibit teamwork and the will to persevere each obstacle they encounter.

The cross country team had a championship season this year led by seniors Antonio Oliveira, Rafael Monteiro and Reynaldo Martinez. They were given support by an outstanding group of underclassmen. They were John Barbosa, Peter Torres, Jose Goncalves and Jose Lopes.

Together, they won the Essex County title and placed second in the Conference and the Sectional championship as well as being undefeated in dual meet competition. They were coached by Mrs. Elizabeth Aranjo and Chet Oxford.

Individually, Antonio Oliveira the team's leader for the past two years also had an impressive season. He defended his county title and came in second in both the sectionals and the conference meet. He capped off his season by making the Star-Ledger All-State team for the second year in a row!

The improving girls team also had a winning season led by Elsa Pereira, Sandra Barbosa, Marlene Dos Santos, Maria Simao, Monica Antunes and Christina Martinez. They finished an impressive fourth at the county meet.

The hours of training and hard work during the summer really paid off for the both teams and they look forward to even better seasons.

WRESTLING

Just another victory for Charles.

The Wrestling program has shown continued improvement over the past three seasons, during which time, our team record climbed from 1-10 to 4-7.

This improvement is the direct result of hard work and determination on the part of all our wrestlers. Despite competing against opponents with vastly more mat experience, our athletes individual efforts have proven to be the key to success.

Our 1992-1993 wrestling squad was lead throughout the season by seniors Jorge Facao, Kevin Jardim, Charles McCrea, and David Ruiz.

The Peer Leadership Program was developed at Princeton High School in 1979, and was designed to help freshmen adjust to the high school environment. Seniors who act as the peer group leaders learn about leadership and group dynamics. Most of the students who go through the program develop planning skills, a sense of confidence about themselves, a greater sensitivity about relating to others, and an understanding of the decision-making process.

The Close Up Program puts American youth in direct contact with people whose daily work involves the setting and carrying out of legislative and administrative governmental policy and procedures.

Students learn more when they ask questions. That's why Close Up seminars provide a forum for the direct exchange of information between students and key figures; in the political arena. Exposure to conflicting points of view help students to clarify their own thinking. Because Close Up speakers represent many of interests, students experience the cooperation, conflict and compromise that takes place daily in the practice of government. They see government as an ongoing process in which they can play an active part as citizens in their own communities.

The Close Up Program was designed because many of the city's youth are unaware of the function of government. The members of this club learn how the local, state and federal government work as one and separately. They achieve this by going to seminars and running for government positions, in order to get a feeling for politics.

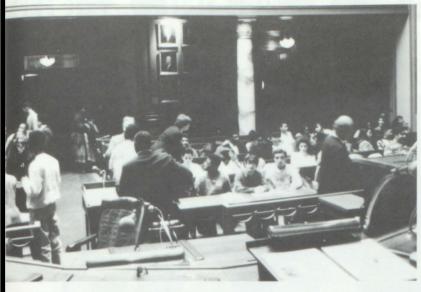

Eastward Councilman, Luis Ruiz, put together a speech for the mock City Council election, which later brings him victory.

The Elite Sorority whose mascot is the dove (peace) was introduced, September 1992. Formed with members of the East Side Pep Squad we agreed unanimously that there is a great need of a club designed to assist us in focusing on he areas of etiquette, responsibility, consequence, academics, family structure, as well as teaching our young ladies what their role in society should be.

We believe when an individual has complete understanding as to what their duty is to oneself, then and only then is that individual ready to attempt to make any effort towards serving her community or society.

BEST WISHES AND CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF 1993

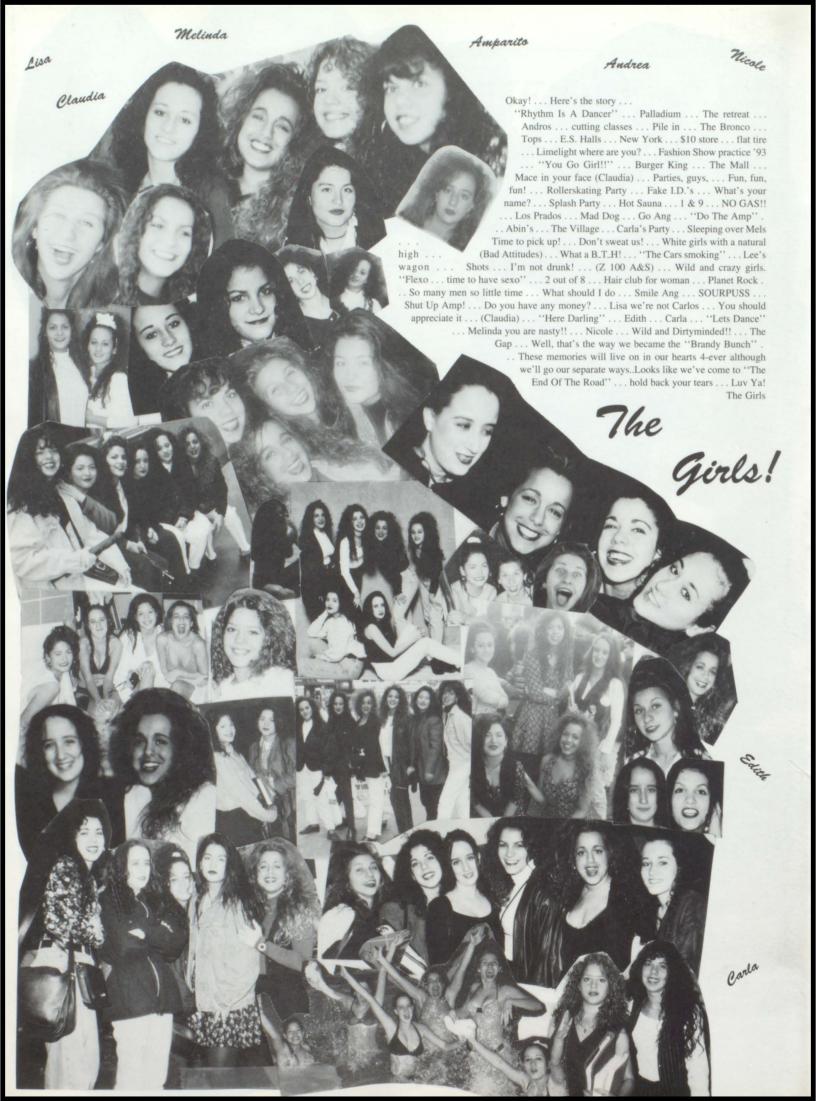

As this year's advisor to the 1993 Yearbook Staff, it has truly been a labor of love for me to have been privileged to work with some of the most talented and imaginative young people to be found anywhere.

With diploma in hand, the world's gateway is open to you. I wish you Godspeed along your chosen paths.

Looking Back

To when we stepped into a higher ground Unaware of what the future was holding But yet, our hearts full of hope and expectations. Together we learned the many lessons that life has in store for us and the many dreams shared by one another.

All in one, we learned to work hard as a group. And that if you knock on enough doors one is bound to open.

But now, it is time to explore new horizons
Where we must meet new challenges
Where we must learn to "Take A Second look!"
At the person that we have become
And the goals that we have achieved.
